SHORT BIO

Ruth Kudzi is a qualified coach, speaker and blogger who works with new and aspiring entrepreneurs who want to start and scale successful, profitable businesses in the service sector. She is committed to her own personal development and has a BA in Psychology & Management Studies, a MA in Psychology, a PGCE in Business & Economics and a PGCERT in Coaching alongside lots of other qualifications. She has worked with some of the worlds leading coaches to develop her own coaching style and build a business which generates over 6 figures in revenue. Her passion is empowering other women to start up and develop their dream businesses through a variety of programs.

ABOUT

A multiple business owner, Ruth built her first six figure business on maternity leave. She started her first Facebook group in September 2016 that now has nearly 3000 members, with approx 10% of these having become paying customers. She helps her clients develop confidence, create a CEO mindset, leave their jobs, scale their businesses and hit record breaking months.

Ruth's passion is empowering other women to start up and develop their dream businesses that gives them freedom, fulfilment flexibility and financial success.

She has been coaching for her entire career and this combined with her studies, commitment to her own self development and 10 + years of leadership and management experience has been invaluable in gaining credibility and developing the people she works with.
